

Specsavers Celebrates Landmark 2,500th Store with New Surrey Location in Canada

Specsavers is excited to announce the opening of its newest location in Surrey at the Guildford Town Centre. And while they take pride in every new store and collaboration with local retail and optometry partners, it is an especially exciting moment to be able to share the celebration of their milestone 2,500th store in one of their Canadian locations.

Driven by their purpose of “changing lives through better sight,” Specsavers aims to become Canada’s market leader by 2024 – opening more than 200 clinics and optical stores across the country, serving patients and customers in both urban and rural communities from coast to coast. Since opening its first Canadian location in the fall of 2021, Specsavers has opened a total of 12 locations across BC.

Specsavers is proud to be celebrating this achievement in Canada alongside local owner and optometry partner Dr. Mannie Dhillon. All Specsavers clinics and optical stores are owned by local optometrists and opticians under a supportive franchise partnership model that empowers optometrists to prioritize the needs of their communities and deliver the best eyecare possible.

Founded in the U.K. nearly 40 years ago by optometrist husband and wife team Doug and Mary Perkins, it was impossible to imagine the day when they would be celebrating 2,500 stores. Specsavers equips their optometrists and opticians with the latest imaging and clinical technology to provide comprehensive eye exams, which include an OCT (optical coherence tomography), a 3D eye scan. Available to all patients at no additional cost, the use of this technology has proven to have a measurable impact on the early detection of debilitating health conditions.
